

DESPERATE MAN'S CRIME

Deserted by His Wife and Dying
With Consumption, He Shoots
His Two Children.

The Oldest is Dead and the Baby is Dying--An Attempt at Suicide.

More Interesting Testimony Brought out at the Mormon Investigation at Salt Lake City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—James Smith, a letter carrier, this afternoon shot his two baby girls, aged 2 years and 11 months, respectively, and then tried to kill himself. The oldest child is dead and the baby is dying, while Smith only succeeded in inflicting a flesh wound on himself, the bullet directed to his stomach having been deflected by a button. Smith contracted consumption during the great blizzard and the doctor told him he could not live longer than next spring. To add to his misery, his wife deserted him and the children, two weeks ago without warning or cause, and Smith was driven to desperation. His wife, it is said, has been fond of male companions.

The Mormon Investigation.
SALT LAKE, Nov. 22.—In the Mormon investigation today Henry W. Lawrence was recalled. He had heard many sermons preached which were disloyal, and the general tendency of the teaching of the church, the years he belonged to it, was to alienate the feeling of the people from the government. He believed the Mormon people would become loyal if the leaders did not teach disloyal doctrines. Witnesses were also called to testify as to the demonstration in 1879, in honor of the release of Daniel Wells, who was committed to the penitentiary for refusing to answer the questions in a polygamy trial. He told how many thousands of Mormons paraded the streets, trailing the American flag in the dust, and hooting federal Judge Emerson; also as to the half-mast of American flags in this city, July 4, 1885, on the city hall, tabernacle, court house and the home of the president of the church.

Joseph Follett was called to refute the testimony of Wardell. He said he never heard of the killing of Green or postmaster before. The prosecution offered in evidence a paper served on a member of the Mormon court citing a member to appear in the bishop's court and be tried for obtaining a judgment in a federal court against a fellow Mormon. This was introduced to demonstrate the truth of the charge that the church dictates and controls temporal as well as spiritual affairs. Extracts were read from the sermons of Taylor, in which he said if the government "cut out the Mormon ulcer" the star of the United States would set in a sea of blood. An extract was read from a recent editorial in the church organ, announcing that polygamy was a fixed and unalterable law of God. The attorneys for the church denied that polygamous marriages were now being solemnized, but, when questioned, admitted that no record of such marriages were kept, and that they had no actual means of knowing if they were being solemnized or not.

Michalowsky's Great Painting.
The grandest painting ever exhibited in Montana is now on exhibition at the California Wine House, No. 46 South Main street. It has been visited and admired by thousands of people who are loud in their praise of its artistic beauty and richness. The form of the young girl, sleeping in the sweet repose of remembered pleasures, with its delicate flesh tints and richness of charms found only in the young woman of the continent, is an exquisite gem. The flowing outlines of the bust, the snowy bosom, the soft curves of the white arms, the parted lips of rose-red from which only kisses flow, are irresistibly treated and with admirable harmony. No one should fail to see this one of Michalowsky's most famous works of art.
